Continuing Responsibilities

The fun doesn’t stop when the bonds are issued. Health Care borrowers have continuing responsibilities and obligations imposed both by the documents that control the bond issue and the regulatory authorities that monitor the industry, primarily the Internal Revenue Service (“IRS”) and the Securities Exchange Commission (“SEC”).
Three primary categories of post issuance requirements:

- Tax Matters
- Securities Matters (Disclosure)
- Additional Contractual Obligations
Post-Issuance Tax Matters

► What are the basic post-issuance tax rules?
► What has changed?
► How does this impact you?
► What else is the IRS up to?
1. Monitor use of bond-financed property
2. Spend bond proceeds quickly
3. Comply with yield restriction and arbitrage rebate rules
4. Keep adequate records concerning use of bond proceeds
Rules 1 and 2: Monitor Use and Spend Quickly

Monitor use of bond-financed property
- Don’t allow (too much) private business use (5% rule)
- Avoid unrelated use of bond-financed property (5% rule)
- Be careful before entering into management or service contracts
  - they may be treated as giving rise to private business use (qualified management contract rules)
- Other circumstances giving rise to private business use

Spend bond proceeds quickly
- Generally, spend bond proceeds within three years
- Reimbursement rules
- Talk with counsel before spending bond proceeds on facilities not identified in the tax documents
Rule 3, Part 1: Yield Restriction

Don’t earn too much on investment of “proceeds”

- This is called “yield limitation” in the tax documents

- Rule: “Proceeds of an issue cannot be invested at above the yield on the bonds, except (a) during temporary periods, or (b) as part of a reasonably required reserve, or (c) as part of a minor portion.”

- Project funds qualify for temporary period exception if:
  - 85% of proceeds expected to be spent in 3 years
  - Within 6 months, have binding obligation to spend 5%
  - Diligently spend proceeds
Rule 3, Part 2: Rebate Requirement

- Pay (arbitrage) earnings to the federal government
  - This is called “rebate requirement” in the tax document
  - Rule: Arbitrage earnings (earnings in excess of the bond yield) must generally be paid to (“rebated”) to the U.S. Treasury.
  - Complete rebate computation every five years and at retirement
  - No need to pay rebate if “spending exceptions” are met:
    - 6-month spending exception
    - 18-month spending exception
    - 2-year spending exception for construction issues

Yield Reduction Payments
Rule 4: Keep Records

Keep the following records regarding the bonds:

- Records of rebate payments
- Records of rebate calculations
- Records concerning investment of proceeds
- Records concerning property financed with bond proceeds
- Records concerning use of bond-financed property

Maintain records for at least 3 years after the later of retirement of (1) the original bonds or (2) any bonds issued to refinance the original bonds

Post-issuance compliance policies must address recordkeeping
Form 8038 and Tax Post-Issuance Compliance

Two boxes on IRS Form 8038!

1. “Do you have post-issuance compliance policies?”
2. “Do you have remedial action procedures?”
Compliance Policies

- Implement policies to ensure and prove compliance
  - IRS will ask about compliance policies in an audit

A. Designate a responsible person or team
  - May be internal or external responsibility or combination
  - Centralized responsibility

B. Establish system to monitor investment of proceeds and schedule periodic review and rebate calculations
  - Involve bond counsel before bidding investment contracts

C. Establish system to monitor expenditure of proceeds
Compliance Policies (cont’d)

D. Establish system to monitor use of financed projects
   ✓ Consider how to maintain communications with persons not involved in bond financing
   ✓ Ensure management contracts are reviewed by bond counsel prior to executing

E. Keep records with respect to expenditures and investment of bond proceeds until at least 3 years after the retirement of the original bonds and any bonds that refinance that original bonds
F. Staff training and ongoing education

- Be wary of isolating all key information in one person
- Know what the bond and tax documents say
- Talk to bond counsel – we are happy to help!
Remedial Action Procedures

Know what your remedial action options are

- Remedial actions are actions that can be taken to fix excessive private business use (resulting from, e.g., sale of financed facilities)
- Examples of remedial actions include redemption or defeasance of bonds, use proceeds of sale for good uses
IRS Bond Examination/Audit Program

► Each year the IRS initiates hundreds of audits of tax-advantaged bonds

► Audits of two general types – random (i.e., chosen by IRS statistical sampling) and targeted (e.g., chosen by whistleblowers; bad press; or due to SEC inquiry)

► By far most audit are random where IRS chooses market segments to review (e.g., random reviews of hospitals, school deals, refundings, airport deals)

► IRS can do cursory review by letter audit or formal review by opening a case audit
IRS Bond Examination/Audit Program (cont’d)

IRS can close with:

1. No change to tax exemption or tax-advantages;
2. Cash payment; bond redemption of non-qualified amount of bonds and Closing Agreement; or
3. Adverse conclusion which Borrower can appeal to IRS Appellate Group; or, rarely, to court

An audit can take from 6 months to 6 years or longer to close

Borrower should not try to do a formal case audit alone
IRS Voluntary Closing Agreement Program

- Process initiated by the tax-exempt borrower to cure compliance errors discovered by borrower
- Borrower may present facts anonymously to test if IRS will enter into an agreement to protect tax-exemption (Closing Agreement)
- Is so, IRS settles on a named basis problems for cash payment, redemption of non-qualified amount of bonds and a Closing Agreement
- Many common “problems” have set payment and redemption formulas
- Program continues to improve but still takes from 2 to 6 months to finish
What do we mean by “continuing disclosure”?

Following the issuance of municipal securities, the provision to the market of financial and operating data concerning the issuer or other “obligated person” (person obligated to support the payment of the bonds) on a periodic (generally annual) basis and, in addition, the reporting to the market of the occurrence of specified events relating to the issuer, obligated person or the municipal securities.
Questions for consideration:

► What type of information?
► Provided by whom, to whom?
► When?
► What if you don’t?
Why?
The Municipal Securities Regulatory Framework

► The Tower Amendment; limited jurisdiction over municipal securities

► Indirect regulation through Rule 15c2-12, imposing requirements on the underwriter of municipal securities
  - 1975 – mandatory registration of brokers/dealers; MSRB created
  - 1989 – underwriters required to obtain and review “deemed final” official statement before offering or purchasing municipal securities
  - 1994 – continuing disclosure agreements with issuer and obligated persons required
  - 2008 – EMMA established; small issuer exemption changed
  - 2010 – amendments to continuing disclosure requirements affecting certain exemptions and reporting requirements
Rule 15c-2-12

Generally prohibits any underwriter from purchasing or selling municipal securities unless the issuer or other obligated person has committed to provide annual updates about its financial condition and operating data of the type included in the official statement, as well as disclosure of certain specified events.
Key Issuer or Obligated Person Requirements Resulting from 15c2-12

- Provision of annual financial and operating information
- Provision of audit when available
- Notice of material events
- Exemptions
  - Limited offerings in denominations of $100,000 or more (though note some voluntary continuing disclosure undertakings)
  - Recent change eliminating exemptions for variable rate demand obligations
- Filings to be made with EMMA
- Obligation documented in Continuing Disclosure Agreement/Undertaking
Changes to Event Notice Requirements

► Notice to be provided not in excess of 10 business days after occurrence of event
► Materiality standard eliminated in several cases
► New events added

Notice Event (cont.)

(7) Modifications to rights of security holders, if material;
(8) Bond calls, if material, and tender offers;
(9) Defeasances;
(10) Release, substitution, or sale of property securing repayment of the securities, if material;

(14) Appointment of a successor or additional trustee or the change of name of a trustee, if material.
Consequences to Issuer or Obligated Person of Failing to Comply with Continuing Disclosure Agreements

► Does not constitute an event of default under indenture or loan agreement; only remedy is action for specific performance.

► Underwriter must have reasonable basis for recommending municipal securities to investing public, including reasonable basis for believing Issuer or Obligated Person will comply with continuing disclosure undertaking

► Underwriter duty to investigate past compliance

► Duty to disclose any instance of Obligated Person’s failure to comply in prior five years; potential impact on sale of new bonds

► Required representations re: past compliance

► Remedial actions may be required for Underwriter to have reasonable basis to believe future compliance by Issuer or Obligated Person
VOLUNTARY DISCLOSURES

► Possibility of Refunding
► Affiliations (at right time)
► Disclosures to Bondholders or Trustee for Particular Bond Issues
► Other non-public Indebtedness
► Other Material Events
Municipalities Continuing Disclosure Cooperation (MCDC) Initiative of SEC’s Enforcement Division

► Launched on March 10, 2014; “expired” on September 10, 2014

► Provides standardized settlement terms for violations involving continuing disclosure obligations

► Available to issuers, obligated persons and underwriters who self-reported or were already under investigation

► Purpose was allegedly to address materially inaccurate statements in municipal bond offering documents
